Property Description

Hidden on a hillside overlooking a six-mile stretch of sands and 60 miles of pristine, undeveloped coastline, Cristal Azul is a tropical oasis in paradise for those looking for barefoot luxury off the beaten path. Cristal Azul was also an award-winning hotel for over 12 years on TripAdvisor and was considered a top destination in Costa Rica and Central America. Upon opening a second business on the beach, the owners decided to close their doors and enjoy the property for themselves, friends, and family. Located in the small town of Playa San Miguel on the southern Nicoya Peninsula, Cristal Azul is easily accessible from both international airports and is a 45-minute drive from the local commuter airstrip at Punta Islita. This part of Costa Rica is truly unique. The town of San Miguel and the surrounding area are untouched by commercial development or tourism; this is what Costa Rica was like before the world arrived.
